

Conflict Resolution African Style

Traditional Reconciliation Practices from Darfur

Since times unknown in the Sahel (South Sahara/rainfall interaction zone) nomads have been moving in and among sedentary farmers. Centuries of interaction have led to traditional conciliation techniques to reduce friction as the nomads move through the farms. Join anthropologist Robin Thelwall as he discusses his research and offers innovative conflict resolution practices from Africa

Thursday, October 27, 7:00 pm

Mir Centre for Peace, Castlegar campus
Admission by donation. Refreshments will be served.

