

Please respect my job.

Hi. You may have seen a dog around Campus lately. I'm a service dog who likes to work. I don't like to be bothered so here is some dog etiquette to help me out.

Please....

- Don't pet me...I am working.
- Speak to my handler directly. I won't understand you anyway. wuff wuff
- Keep loud noises and distracting motions limited when I am around, it makes it easier for me to do my job. Thanks!
- Keep your food to yourself, I am trying to stay in shape and food is distracting and often bad for me.
- Understand that my handler has me for personal and private reasons. These reasons are not to be questioned, even out of curiosity.
- Know that my handler may not want to chat about me, not that they do not love me, but they are helping me do my job with no distractions.
- Understand that I go absolutely everywhere with my handler. As you can see we really are attached to one another.
- I am very camera and video shy, please do not take my picture or a video of me.
